Focus Area

FAID focuses on expanding access to cost – effective opportunities that directly impact livelihood of communities and are directly linked to sectors of agriculture, education, livelihood, Gender and environment through efficient, participatory, Inclusive, strategic and scalable approaches

a. Agriculture

FAID's aim is to ensure that smallholder farmers have access to modern farming technologies that are cost effective, user friendly and climatically smart. FAID promotes use of clean energy in crop production, use of drought resistant crops and technologies that optimize use of space or land for increased crop productivity and income per unit area.

b. Environment and Climate change

FAID aims at enhancing the capacity of communities to utilize interventions that are safe, environmental friendly and sustainably significant contributing to climate change adaptation and mitigation. FAID believes in interventions that when applied impact the communities. We engage emerging entrepreneurs, innovators with products to build and scale assistance and help them access the required resources.

c. Education

FAID aims at promoting access to quality education for all at community, District and national levels. To achieve this FAID shall be providing school fees bursaries to the needy in its efforts to curb illiteracy levels in Malawi. Availability of funds shall determine its jurisdiction or beneficiaries for the common good of Malawian citizens.

d. Livelihood

FAID aims at improving the livelihood of rural communities by enhancing enterprises that empower women, youth and vulnerable groups to pioneer vocational skills like tailoring, construction and metal works to achieve economic development among the rural masses.

Our Current Project

FAID is currently working on a Project aimed at improving the livelihood of people through environmental conservation and management and women empowerment covering tailoring.
